DESIGN OF THE SCHOOL.

THE Legislature, by an act passed May 16, 1870, made instruction in drawing obligatory in the public day schools, and required cities and towns containing more than ten thousand inhabitants to make provisions for free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. As it was soon found impossible to realize satisfactorily the benefits intended by this act, for want of competent teachers, a resolve was passed by the Legislature in 1873 providing for the establishment of a State Normal Art School.

The Board of Education, at its meeting on March 7, 1901, adopted the following vote and ordered it to be printed in the catalogues of all the normal schools:—

“That the visitors of the several normal schools be authorized and directed to provide for a physical examination of candidates for admission to the normal schools, in order to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for the office of teacher, and also to examine any student at any time in the course, to determine whether his physical condition is such as to warrant his continuance in the school.”

SCHOOL YEAR.

The year is divided into two terms. The first term begins Sept. 27, 1904 and ends Feb. 11, 1905. The second term begins February 14, and ends the latter part of June, 1905.

DESIGN OF THE SCHOOL.

THE Legislature, by an act passed May 16, 1870, made instruction in drawing obligatory in the public day schools, and required cities and towns containing more than ten thousand inhabitants to make provisions for free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. As it was soon found impossible to realize satisfactorily the benefits intended by this act, for want of competent teachers, a resolve was passed by the Legislature in 1873 providing for the establishment of a State Normal Art School.

The Board of Education, at its meeting on March 7, 1901, adopted the following vote and ordered it to be printed in the catalogues of all the normal schools:—

“That the visitors of the several normal schools be authorized and directed to provide for a physical examination of candidates for admission to the normal schools, in order to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for the office of teacher, and also to examine any student at any time in the course, to determine whether his physical condition is such as to warrant his continuance in the school.”

SCHOOL YEAR.

The year is divided into two terms. The first term begins Sept. 29, 1905, and ends Feb. 10, 1906. The second term begins Feb. 13, and ends the latter part of June, 1906.

In Memoriam.

By the sudden death of MR. GEORGE H. CONLEY, in December, 1905, the Normal Art School is deprived of the counsel and aid of one who has been continuously on its Board of Visitors since he became a member of the State Board of Education.

The breadth and clearness of his views in regard to the various Courses of the School, especially in relation to the Constructive Arts and Design and to Arts and Crafts work, helped to enrich the scope of the School. He also advocated the introduction of written examinations in several branches of study as tests of fitness for admission to the School. Through his active interest the opportunities for observation and teaching of drawing in the public schools of the city were strengthened.

Cordial and frank in expressions of individual interest, he was wise and cautious in regard to educational issues that were still debatable. His judgment once formed he had the courage to express his decisions and to act upon them. In him was a rare union of qualities that made him the helper and friend alike of teachers and scholars.

Massachusetts Normal Art School.

DESIGN OF THE SCHOOL.

THE Legislature, by an act passed May 16, 1870, made instruction in drawing obligatory in the public day schools, and required cities and towns containing more than ten thousand inhabitants to make provisions for free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. As it was soon found impossible to realize satisfactorily the benefits intended by this act, for want of competent teachers, a resolve was passed by the Legislature in 1873 providing for the establishment of a State Normal Art School.

“That the visitors of the several normal schools be authorized and directed to provide for a physical examination of candidates for admission to the normal schools, in order to determine whether they are free from any disease or infirmity which would unfit them for the office of teacher, and also to examine any student at any time in the course, to determine whether his physical condition is such as to warrant his continuance in the school.”

DESIGN OF THE SCHOOL.

THE Legislature, by an act passed May 16, 1870, made instruction in drawing obligatory in the public day schools, and required cities and towns containing more than ten thousand inhabitants to make provisions for free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. As it was soon found impossible to realize satisfactorily the benefits intended by this act, for want of competent teachers, a resolve was passed by the Legislature in 1873 providing for the establishment of a State Normal Art School.
